THOSE NAMED FOR OFFICERS

Mrs. Knox's Interesting Talk on the "Notes of a Field Missionary." Mrs. John Newton Spoke on "Home and Home Making"-Election of Officers Will Take Place at the Philadelphia Meeting on May I.

The last day's session of the annual assembly of the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Presbyterian church proved one of general interest. in the morning a conference of the Presbyterial officers was held in the chapel, Mrs. William Waters, of Phil-adelphia, presiding. Different phases of missionary work were discussed by the delegates, who spoke freely on the subjects familiar to them.

At haif past 10 o'clock the conference adjourned and the delegates re-tired to the auditorium, which had been adorned for the occasion. Flowers surrounded the pulpit and temporary platform, and along the edges of the latter a row of handsome evergreen plants was seen, while on the walls of the church hung numerous maps of the various mission fields.

Mrs. Turner called the assemblage to order and Mrs. W. P. Wilson, of Bellefonte, read the Scriptural lesson and offered prayer. Mrs. W. E. Knox spoke on "The Notes of a Field Secretary," after which Mrs. Turner called Mrs. S. R. Forman to the chair while the "Question Bex" was being opened. A large number of questions covering a wide range of subjects in missionary matters was answered by the delegates. Mrs. Alexander, 'Home and Home Making" was the subject of an interesting address by M. E. Braddon. Mrs. John Newton, who lives in Alla-bahad, India. Mrs. W. C. Dodd, a worker in the missionary field at Laos was the next speaker.

> THE AFTERNOON SESSION. After singing, Mrs. Webster, of Mauch Chunk, offered prayer, at the close of which Mrs. Turner asked that the committee reports be heard. She then called Mrs. J. A. Price to the

The report of the committee on resoutions also included a memorial ex-pressing the gratitude of the assembly to the railroads for courtesies extended in reduction of rates, to the host and ostesses for kindly entertainment of the delegates, to the ladies who decorated the church, to the officers of the assembly, and to the congregation of the Second Presbyterian church and Scranton Presbytery for the privilege of meeting in so bandsome an edifice.

CLOSING BUSINESS OF MEETING. After the adoption of the report of be committee, Mrs. Price thanked the lelegates for sccepting the invitation to come to Scranton, and said she hoped the result of the meeting would be manifest in renewed earnestness on the part of those who are loyal to missionary interests. Mrs. Turner then resumed the chair, at the same time acknowledging her thanks to the assembly for having for the fifth time conferred upon her a distinguished honor. An invitation extended by the Pressytery of Philadelphia inviting the asembly to hold its next meeting in that city was accepted.

Mrs. Hugh Gibson, of Cincinnati, rea! a very interesting paper on 'How to Keep Our Hearts Warm in Sommer," and was followed by brief addresses from working missionaries in China and Syria. Delegates also made three minute speeches. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Thorps and Mrs. Wel-lington White, and then, after singing, Rev. Dr. Robinson pronounced benediction.
